It provides basic training to the entry-level firefighter who may respond to a wildland or urban interface fire. The class includes instruction in fireline methods, extinguishment and factors impacting firefighter safety at a wildland incident. The class also teaches the primary factors affecting the start and spread of wildfire and recognition of potentially hazardous situations. This 24-hour class introduces the firefighter to the wildland incident management systems and includes a hands-on component.

Note: Historically, Wildland courses offered at Fire College were covered by a grant from the Illinois Department of Natural Resources (IDNR) and therefore did not have a tuition or lab fee. At this time, the grant funding is awaiting approval. Should the grant from IDNR be approved prior to Fire College, tuition and lab fees for this course will be covered by the grant.

Students also learn what is physically required of the SCBA user. Students will be placed in groups for evolutions according to experience level. Some drills will be in heat and smoke, with all drills intended to help the student – regardless of skill level – become more comfortable and efficient with an SCBA.

$75 Registration Fee + $75 Lab Fee = $150 Total Enrollment Cost
Thursday 1 pm – 5 pm and Friday 8 am – 5 pm
This class provides the chance to experience how compartment fires start, spread and develop, through a detailed study of what influences fire behavior, including causes of flashover. Laboratory and field demonstrations allow students to observe firsthand fire growth as a function of fuel properties, fuel quantities, ventilation, compartment geometry, location of fire, and ambient conditions. This class then equips the student to make the connection between fire dynamics and fire control methods; students will have the opportunity to sharpen their stream application skills through hands-on drills.

G. Fire Dynamics in Modern Construction
12 Hours – Enrollment Limited to 50
$75 Registration Fee + $0 Lab Fee = $75 Total Enrollment Cost
Saturday 8 am – 5 pm and Sunday 8 am – Noon
This class will provide firefighters and fire officers with critical insights on how modern building construction techniques and modern contents impact the development of fires in these structures. New building construction techniques and materials, along with new furnishings and content materials, ignite more easily, support rapid flame spread and contains more energy per pound than the natural materials used previously. This class shares the results of research to help the student understand the fire dynamics, as well as the influence of fire fighting tactics in this environment. This class will also discuss the practical implications for the firefighter, company officer and command officer operating on the fireground at today’s fire scene. Students will be able to interact with and ask questions of leading researchers in the industry.
