Welcome to the premier training event of the year for Illinois firefighters – the 92nd Annual Fire College presented by the Illinois Fire Service Institute.

As we continue to listen to you and respond to your requests for affordable hands-on training, we have made some minor adjustments to Fire College – bringing back some popular classes and offering you some new choices. And, you still have access to the most realistic live-fire training that we can offer. Our number of live-burn props have more than doubled and we have the new rail car prop that will be used during Fire College.

You can enroll in all 24 hours of Fire College or just in the portions you have time for.

As always, you have access to the top fire service training professionals in the industry. Our instructors will help you refine your skills, introduce you to new concepts and let you practice those techniques right on the fire field.

Registration fees continue to be low – even lower if you register by May 12. I hope you’ll take advantage of our advance online registration to reserve seats in your preferred classes. Many courses fill up quickly, so please register as soon after April 4 as possible.

It all adds up to an intensive three days of the most advanced – and affordable – hands-on training available in the Midwest. We look forward to sharing the experience with you in Champaign this June.

Sincerely,

Royal P. Mortenson, Director IFSI

Dave Sanderson

When US Airways Flight 1549 ditched into the Hudson River on January 15, 2009, Dave Sanderson knew he was exactly where he was supposed to be. The last passenger off the back of the plane on that fateful day, he was largely responsible for the well-being and safety of others, risking his own life in frigid water to help other passengers off the plane. Despite the hazards to himself, Sanderson thought only of helping others, and emerged from the wreckage with a mission: to encourage others to do the right thing. In his stirring presentation, Sanderson shares the story of Flight 1549, revealing the inner strength it took to make it through the day, and how teamwork, leadership, and state management can help overcome any obstacle.

class begins in the classroom learning tactics and strategies in fighting fire with foam in a railroad scenario. The 10-hour hands-on portion covers scene size-up, cooling and foam application – when to cool, how to cool and when and how to apply foam. Through the generosity of Canadian Pacific Railroad, this class content materials ignite more easily, support rapid flame spread and contains more energy per pound than the legacy materials. This class shares the results of research to help the student understand the fire dynamics, as well as the influence on firefighting tactics in this environment. This class discusses the practical implications for the firefighter, company officer and command officer operating on the fire ground at today’s fire scene. Students interact with and ask questions of leading researchers in the industry.

Friday 8 am – Noon, OR Friday 1 pm – 5 pm, OR Saturday 8 am – Noon, OR Saturday 1 pm – 5 pm

This class was developed, with the assistance of the City of St. Charles Missouri Fire Department, to share lessons learned from a residential basement fire that nearly cost the lives of four veteran firefighters.

The significance of this class is that it involves four firefighters with an experience level from 10 years to 25 years. Because of this experience level, these firefighters were interviewed only days after the fire, and asked some tough questions about their escape and their thought processes during their escape. Portions of these tapes, with the addition of cell phone and helmet camera video taken from three separate cameras on the scene, provide students with an intimate sense of what these firefighters experienced.

Lessons learned involve: size-up, radio communications, ventilation, “truckwork”, incident command structure, wind driven fire tactics and strategy, RIT or RIC, Mayday procedures, and post-incident responsibility.
